2025 GBGB AWARDS DATE AND LOCATION CONFIRMED

Greyhound Board of Great Britain has today announced the date and location for the 2025 GBGB Awards. Trainers, owners and connections are all invited to attend the ceremony, which will be held on Thursday 5th March 2026 in Wokingham.

Following last year's Awards ceremony which saw people across the sport gather in the heart of the city of York, the 2025 GBGB Awards will be held at the picturesque Easthampstead Park in the countryside near Wokingham. A short train journey from London, the venue sits halfway between Oxford Greyhound Stadium and Brighton and Hove Greyhound Stadium and is intended to be more accessible for those supporters based across the South.

As well as highlighting some of the highest achieving racers of 2025, the GBGB Awards will celebrate those working in the sport and their accomplishments from the year, including Awards for Kennelhand, Trainer and Owner of the year.

Mark Moisley, Commercial Director for the Greyhound Board of Great Britain, said:

"The GBGB Awards are an exciting opportunity to reflect on the most exciting moments in greyhound racing over the past year and celebrate the people and greyhounds behind these."

"This is the fourth year of taking the Awards outside of London and we hope that many involved in the sport will be able to attend and celebrate their successes in 2025. Every year, we listen to all the feedback we receive about the Awards ceremony and we hope that this year's venue will match the success of last year's event in York."

"I'm sure all the categories will be closely fought again after an excellent year of racing. Tickets will be on sale from December 1st and we will be releasing further details in due course. Thank you, as always, to our sponsors whose support allows this to be such an exciting and enjoyable event."

UPCOMING CHANGE TO GBGB VACCINATION REQUIREMENTS: LEPTOSPIROSIS

Earlier this year, to support best biosecurity practice across the racing greyhound population and in response to the reduced availability of the 'L2' (Leptospirosis) vaccine across the UK, GBGB issued updated guidance for trainers and licensed racecourse vets. This stated that, where possible, greyhounds should begin to be transitioned from L2 to L4 vaccination.

New Requirement and Timeline

From 1st January 2027, GBGB will require proof of up-to-date core vaccinations plus L4 vaccination when registering a racing greyhound. The GBGB's minimum vaccination requirements (Rule 60) will be amended to reflect this.

Ahead of this implementation date, all greyhounds currently vaccinated with L2 as part of their primary course and annual booster vaccinations should now begin their transition to L4 vaccination.

Transitioning Racing Greyhounds

For effective L4 immunity, as part of a primary course, two L4 doses must be given within the time interval specified by the manufacturer (typically three to four weeks apart), followed by an annual L4 booster.

As active racing greyhounds will already have L2 protection, their first L4 dose may be given when their annual Leptospirosis booster is due, followed by their second at the interval instructed by their veterinary surgeon and according to manufacturer's guidelines.

Commenting on this change, GBGB Veterinary Director, Simon Gower, said:

"While rare, Leptospirosis is a serious infectious disease that can affect both dogs and humans, so it is vital that we offer our greyhounds the broadest possible protection."

"Many veterinarians are already opting to use the L4 vaccine, which protects against four Leptospira serovars rather than two. With the shift to L4 taking place nationwide, we expect that it will be increasingly difficult to source the L2 vaccine, so we strongly advise that trainers and track vets begin transitioning where they can ahead of the upcoming Rule change."

"From the beginning of 2027, all racing greyhounds must have completed the L4 primary vaccination course, with all new registrations and arrivals receiving this as standard."

GBGB ROLLS OUT COMPETITION AUTOMATED TRAP DRAW ENHANCEMENT

The Greyhound Board of Great Britain (GBGB) is pleased to announce the ability to draw competition rounds via the automated trap draw system.

Following on from the successful roll out of the single-race automated trap draw system back in March of this year, this latest enhancement introduces multiple rounds, guarding, and comprehensive validation for categories such as Maidens, British Bred, and dogs/bitches competitions.

The procedure has undergone thorough testing and is ready for a phased rollout, starting with selected tracks across the country.

Racing Offices will only be able to draw each race once, with redraws managed by the GBGB Registry department, while draws completed in this way will include a notice in the race card, ensuring transparency.

Mark Moisley, GBGB's Commercial Director, said:

"This is another example of the steps being taken as part of our digital transformation to increase efficiency for tracks in all aspects of the racing office system. It speeds up the operation, ensures full transparency and is the result of further collaboration with Racing and Sports who we wish to thank for their efforts."

COLD WEATHER POLICY

Purpose

Greyhounds prefer to operate within their Thermo-Neutral Zone (TNZ) of between 10°C and 26°C, with a small margin for individual animals. Due to their low level of body fat, they are more susceptible to extreme weather conditions than other breeds of dogs. The GBGB Cold Weather Policy is designed to provide trainers, kennelhands and racecourse staff with measures to protect the health, comfort and safety of greyhounds during periods of cold weather.

Scope

The Cold Weather Policy applies to all GBGB licence holders caring for greyhounds during their visits to the racecourse and during transportation to and from the track. Racecourses and trainers must ensure they are aware of any forecast cold weather and have the necessary measures in place to ensure compliance with this Policy.

Policy

At the racecourse

- Racecourses must monitor the ambient temperature both at the racecourse and within the kennel block(s). Kennel area temperatures must be monitored and recorded at regular intervals, with individual kennels monitored independently if circumstances dictate.
- Racecourses must be aware of surface conditions and ensure that walkways and entrances to the paddock and track are clear from ice or snow.
- Each greyhound in a race must be provided with a suitable overcoat by the racecourse to wear when parading. The overcoat must be dry and resistant to wintry conditions.
- Trainers shall ensure that each greyhound has had sufficient time to adequately warm up prior to racing.
- When greyhounds are on parade, handlers shall keep greyhounds moving and avoid periods of inactivity.
- If the track is frozen (partially or fully) or there is perceived to be any risk to the safety and welfare of greyhounds running on the surface, racing should be delayed or called off.
- Where extreme weather is forecast, the Racing Office shall make every effort to take an early decision to abandon a meeting before trainers have embarked on their journey to the racecourse. Any such variation for a Race Meeting must be notified to the GBGB or the Area Stipendiary Steward concerned. Such notifications shall be made as soon as practicable and no later than 24 hours after the date of the Race Meeting concerned (Rule 107).

Transporting greyhounds in cold weather

- Transportation must be undertaken in accordance with Appendix II of the Rules of Racing.

- All vehicles used to transport greyhounds shall be air conditioned and always maintained between 10°C and 26°C during transport. A remote monitoring device must display the temperature in the greyhound cabin and be visible from the driver's seat.
- Sufficient suitable coats shall be available for all greyhounds to wear during transportation.
- An adequate, fresh supply of water and suitable drinking vessels must also be carried.
- Every journey must be planned and managed, with consideration given to the following:
 - o The number of greyhounds being transported;
 - o The road and traffic conditions;
 - o The length of the journey;
 - o The experience of the handler;
 - o Emergency management in case of an accident, breakdown or high traffic congestion.
- Greyhounds must not be left unattended in a parked vehicle other than during the times when they are being unloaded for kennelling and reloaded post-meeting, with no unnecessary delays in either process.

Additional trainer guidance: kennel care and arrangements

- In order to maintain vital organs at a constant temperature, a greyhound's metabolism needs to work much harder during the winter months. Additional food should be made available during cold spells to increase energy input and assist with thermoregulation (see Appendix 2 of the 'GBGB Greyhound Residential Kennels Code of Practice' for further details). Trainers should also be mindful that an individual greyhound's weight should not vary by more than 1 kg from its weight in its previous trial or race (Rule 52).
- Additional bedding should be used to ensure each greyhound has a warm and comfortable place to sleep; this must be clean, dry and regularly replaced.
- Kennel coats are a good method of providing an extra layer of insulation during the winter months and should be regularly cleaned and checked for damage. Trainers should ensure that they have a suitable quantity of good quality kennel coats available for use both in the kennel and when out walking.
- Other non-conventional methods of keeping a dog warm include using a 'snood' (a cross between a scarf and a hood) or cutting down woolly tights to cover the neck and ears.
- Where central heating or other forms of kennel heating are used, they must be safe, regularly maintained and in full working order ahead of any forecasted cold weather.
- Modern methods of insulation can provide a noticeable improvement to the ambient temperature of a kennel by reducing draughts (while also ensuring adequate ventilation) and unnecessary heat loss. Funding for kennel insulation, a new heating system or to upgrade an existing heating system is available through the GBGB Trainers' Assistance Fund.

- During periods of extreme cold weather and when there is a real risk of ice and/or snow, trainers should contact the Racing Office at the earliest opportunity to discuss potential transport difficulties.
- Extra vigilance should be displayed during the winter months and when certain constituents are used to combat the effect of snow, ice and freezing. These can be particularly harmful or discomforting to a greyhound. For example:
 - o Anti-freeze (ethylene glycol) is commonly used for vehicle maintenance and must always be safely stored away from greyhounds. Anti-freeze is extremely toxic if ingested. Extra caution should be shown when exercising greyhounds in public areas and box muzzles must always be worn. If you suspect your greyhound may have licked some antifreeze, do not wait for symptoms to appear – contact your vet immediately so they can start treatment straight away.
 - o Walking greyhounds on salted paths or highways can carry a small risk to greyhounds from the additional chemicals added to rock salt and road grit, which can be toxic to dogs if ingested. It is recommended that a greyhound's feet are washed thoroughly after exercise on gritted areas.
 - o Extra precaution should be given to greyhounds with recent sandburns or spike wounds when out exercising. Consideration should be given to using a protective bandage or boot and greyhounds should be rested from racing in accordance with veterinary advice.
 - o Greyhounds that have sore quicks or healed sandburns should have a barrier cream applied (in accordance with the manufacturer's guidelines) to protect these areas from contact with grit/salt and to prevent unnecessary discomfort.
 - o Water receptacles that have become frozen overnight must be defrosted fully and cleaned before re-using.
 - o Keep greyhounds away from rivers, ponds and lakes that are iced over as thin ice may break under a dog's weight.
